The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bowman will be interested to learn that they will soon leave Kansas for South Dakota, where they expect to make their future home. Mrs. Bowman is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cunckel of Ellsworth, and is very widely known here.

On Wednesday a 15 cent lunch was served and the ladies cleared about $50. The Ladies' Good Will society has done much good work in Wa-Keeney and are in every way deserving of public patronage in their undertakings, and Wa-Keeney should feel proud that she has such a lot of public spirited ladies who are not afraid to tackle a hard proposition and then make a success of it every time.

Come Now Own Up

You don't like those gray hairs, do you? And your husband certainly doesn't like them. Then why not try a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor? It restores color to gray hair every time. All the deep, rich color of early life. And it cures dandruff also.

"I certainly believe that Ayer's Hair Vigor is a splendid preparation for the hair and scalp, for I have used it myself for six years. I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone in need of such a preparation."—Mrs. Sara Ford, Minneapolis, Minn.

Last Wednesday the fire alarm sounded out on the still air and every one rushed to the streets. The cause of the alarm was that the building in which the Good Will society was serving dinner caught fire from a defective chimney. It was soon extinguished and no particular damage done but a lot of scared women, and it is told that one woman in the excitement forgot to take her curl papers down in time to look pretty before the gentlemen came for dinner, this explains the old saying that "Vanity thy Name is Woman."

"R-E-M-O-R-S-E."

"The Water Wagon Is the Place for Me," This Man Sings.

"R-E-M-O-R-S-E. The water wagon is the place for me." Sings the Union Pacific agent at Wa-Keeney, Kansas, as he goes about his work. He hums it as he sells tickets, he whistles it as he juggles baggage, he seems to have a liking for the song. No memory of a town painting jag is in his mind, the railroad demands that its employee be temperate, and this individual does not violate the rules. Still, even when the railroader signs his reports his fondness for the ditty crops out again, for he writes the first line of the song, in this wise:

"R. E. Morse."

The above was written by Jos. D. Hurley, city messenger and ticket agent for the U. P. at Leavenworth, Kansas, and tis said he is one of the biggest wags on the road.

Ogallah

Yost's elevator is taking in corn this week.

R. S. Musgrave shipped a car of fancy stock to Kansas City, Tuesday.

The rumor is that one of the Ogallah young men will be sweeping out the bank soon.

Jason McElvain has made himself quite famous by giving violin music over the telephone line.

H. H. Tawney, who lives four miles south of Ogallah, was kicked by a horse and badly hurt Saturday last. The blow struck him squarely over the heart, and it was thought for a time he was dangerously injured, but he is much better now.

This community seems to be afflicted with barn-itis this fall. Mike Richards is preparing to build a large barn, H. M. Davidson built a barn and re-modelled the lumber shed into an addition, C. C. Yetter is remodeling and enlarging his barns and sheds, and several others are showing symptoms.

WIN POINT AGAINST SCALPERS.

Railroads Succeed in Getting Injunction from Colorado State Courts.

In a suit recently brought in the district court of Pueblo county, Colorado, the allied railroads sought for an injunction to prevent the scalpers from handling special contract tickets. This case was heard by Judge N. Walter Dixon, who granted the order requested. In his oral opinion Judge Dixon briefly summed up the points and the authorities, closing his remarks as follows:

It has been said by counsel for the defendants that the effect of this injunction would be to break up the business of ticket brokers. So far as these brokers carry on a legitimate business it cannot be affected by this injunction at all. So far as they carry on a legitimate business in these special contract tickets it ought to be broken up. It is an illegitimate and fraudulent business. It is a fraud upon the railroad companies and it is a fraud upon the traveling public. If the railroad companies had the opportunity of exercising their rights without any hindrance, without any interference from third persons in regard to these special contract tickets, the traveling public would not be subjected to the annoyance to which they are now subjected in order that they may travel upon them, add the probabilities are that to the of the public generally these tickets would be issued much more frequently than they are now issued and probably at better rates than they are now issued.—The Omaha Bee, October 8, 1905.
